1. About the Institute

Project Management Institute (PMI) is the world's leading association for those who consider project, program or portfolio management their profession. Through global advocacy, collaboration, education and research, PMI prepares more than three million professionals around the world. Celebrating the 50th anniversary in 2019, PMI works in nearly every country around the world to advance careers, improve organizational success and further mature the project management profession through globally-recognized standards, certifications, communities, resources, tools, academic research, publications, professional development courses and networking opportunities.

2. About the Qualification

Wherever you are in your career, the globally recognized Project Management Professional (PMP) certification tells employers, peers, and the world you know what you're doing in project management.

Even if “project manager” isn't part of your title, the PMP applies to anyone who helps bring a project to completion. The PMP recognizes your ability to manage projects—and the hard work you've done so far.

The PMP delivers value far into your career. Certified PMPs report earning up to 25% more than non-certified PMPs. Research indicates that employers will need to fill nearly 2.2 million new project-oriented roles each year through 2027. This means skilled project managers are in high demand. The PMP certification is designed by project professionals, for project professionals and validates that you are among the best—highly skilled.

3. The future of the Certification and the changes towards Project Economy

Project Management is evolving rapidly. The PMI updates its PMP examination regularly based on the changes and the industries' best practices.

Project Economy is a central idea at the PMI where "future ready" organizational leaders are turning to Project Management Professionals to drive innovation, results and changes.

-An organization is "its Projects"-
